New report guides plans for tackling gang crime

A ground breaking report titled 'From Postcodes to Profit', commissioned by Waltham Forest Council and written by London South Bank University, has shown the ruthless nature of gangs in the borough.

In response Waltham Forest Council has agreed an extra £806,000 in funding, over the next four years, to help develop our existing gang prevention, including setting up the first ever financial investigation team to track and seize the money made from their crimes.

Researchers of the report spoke to current and former gang members, social workers and police officers to better understand the behaviour, make up and recruitment of gangs.

The report found that gangs are more focused on making a profit from selling drugs than protecting their territory. It also found that increased competition in London's drug market is leading to gangs working across county lines, outside of the capital. Defending a postcode is no longer the priority.

Leader of Waltham Forest Council, Clare Coghill said: "I am pleased that we as a council have made the bold decision to tackle gang crime head on by commissioning this report and acting upon it.

"The added knowledge in the report coupled with the additional funding will help us build on our gang prevention programme to help those in gangs escape them and prevent others from a life of crime."

Author of the report, Professor Whittaker said that mental health is a key issue with gang members, "We know they have much higher rates of mental health problems than the general population.

"We welcome a greater focus from Waltham Forest Council on supporting young people's mental health."

To combat the problem of mental health issues that are a common characteristic of gang members, the NHS are funding mental health assessments in those young people arrested or identified as being on the periphery of gangs.

Walthamstow Wetlands wins heritage placemaking award

Europe's largest urban wetland environment, Walthamstow Wetlands, has won the award for Best Use of Heritage in Placemaking at the Planning Awards 2018.

The national awards recognise excellence in both planning and placemaking.

The judges praised Walthamstow Wetlands as "an outstanding scheme" and highlighted its "community benefit, environmental improvement, sensitive use and celebration of industrial heritage".

Regeneration Project Manager, Martha Lawson collected the award along with Ben Smith of Kinnear Landscape Architects who lead the design team.

Martha said, "It's so wonderful for this great project to be recognised by the judges. The team at the council, the design team led by Kinnear Landscape Architects and Witherford Watson Mann Architects worked so hard on this project over several years.

"The transformation of the area was possible due to £10.6m of funding from the Heritage Lottery Fund, Thames Water and the Council. It included the laying of reed beds, walkways and the conversion of two historic buildings into a visitor centre, café, education space and viewing platform.

"The wetlands project was opened and completed in October 2017. This was the first time the site was opened to the wider public in 150 years. The community have clearly embraced the wetlands and enjoy visiting the site."

Walthamstow Wetlands is also a Thames Water operational site supplying 3.5 million people with drinking water. Located just 15 minutes away from central London.

The Council's St James Street Heritage project was also a finalist in the same category.

From the Leader

Cllr Clare Coghill

The issue of gangs in the borough will be one that many of you will be all too familiar with.

Just like all London boroughs our residents are forced to live in close proximity to the violence, fear and drug dealing caused by these groups. To combat the threat from these gangs and prevent more young people destroying their lives by getting involved in a life of crime, we need to understand how they operate, recruit and behave. This is why Waltham Forest Council commissioned London South Bank University to undertake an in depth report into gangs in our borough. This report has led us to put an additional £806,000 funding over the next four years into our Gang Prevention Programme. This money will ensure we can prevent more people from joining gangs which should ensure we reduce the horrific murders we have seen on our streets recently.

The reasons why young people join gangs are complex, but research shows it is linked to poverty and trauma in younger life. Children witnessing, or being subjected to, domestic violence is a key characteristic that makes a young person more likely to not only become a gang member but also suffer from mental health issues. This is why the NHS in is now giving all young people arrested, or on the periphery of crime, a mental health assessment. This approach will help to deal with some of the underlying problems that cause some young people to commit violent acts on our streets in Waltham Forest and beyond. To ensure we tackle the gangs we are also going to fund our first ever financial investigation function here at the council. This will be charged with chasing the trail of money that gangs gain from their role in drug dealing and working with the police to ensure this is used to bring them to justice. I know our partnership approach with colleagues from the police, health, education and the voluntary sector do excellent work but the additional funding coupled with the new insight this report brings will help in the fight against gangs and keep our streets safe.

More affordable homes planned in exciting Town Hall Campus project

An artist's impression of the revised Town Hall Campus plans

An exciting scheme to transform the historic Waltham Forest Town Hall Campus into a thriving neighbourhood in the heart of Chapel End ward is gathering pace. Plans have been revised to include more affordable homes which will help young people from the borough to stay near their families, friends and support networks as they get on the property ladder.

The number of homes the Town Hall Campus project will create across the borough has increased from 348 to at least 500, and up to as many as 600. This will allow the council to provide an absolute minimum of 35 per cent affordable housing, with the ambition to deliver 50 per cent. This is in line with the council's priority to provide a decent roof over residents' heads and to improve their life chances.

There are a number of revisions to the original plans, first revealed in summer 2017, following community feedback at a series of public events and drop-in sessions. Among these are proposals to work more closely with neighbouring Walthamstow College and create a new Special Educational Needs and Disability (SEND) facility. The revised plan also safeguards the central fountain and war memorial area of the Town Hall Campus so that it can act as a focal point for events and concerts.

Staff from 10 older, less efficient council offices across the borough will move into new office space on the Town Hall Campus site. The land unlocked by this move will then be used for much-needed housing. As before setting of the Grade II-listed Town Hall and Assembly Hall is protected for future generations to enjoy.

Cllr Clare Coghill, Leader of Waltham Forest Council, said:

“Part of this project is about providing a decent roof over all our residents' heads. Since we first began consulting residents about this project we have nearly doubled the amount of homes in the plans. This, alongside the land unlocked by closing older office buildings, will deliver more affordable housing in Waltham Forest so that our residents can look forward to a stable and safe future in their borough.”

The Government's One Public Estate programme encourages councils to house their staff close to staff from other public sector organisations to make the most of shared resources. The new flexible workspace on the Town Hall Campus will host council staff, staff from public sector partners and small businesses such as local coffee roasters Perky Blenders, which has already opened a new café in The Magistrates. This is an important element of the council's ambitious Creating Futures strategy which aims to transform the way services are delivered for the benefit of residents.

Sign up for the cycling event of the year

Councillor Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, said: “There is always such a great buzz around this event which is a great day out for everyone, whether you’re an inexperienced cyclist, a seasoned commuter, or a casual rider.

Even our youngest residents can get involved, as the routes are suitable for cargo bikes as well.

“Nearly 50 per cent of all journeys made in London could be cycled in ten minutes and Le Tour de Waltham Forest is a great way to discover how easy it is to get around on your bike.”

This year's routes include a leisurely 7.5km cycle, a 12km tour or an adventurous 18km ride. The Dr Bike team will also be on hand during the day to provide free checks of participants brakes, tyres and wheels and local bike businesses as well as ZED, the zero emissions delivery service, will also have stalls on the day including a pedal-powered Scaletrix and jukebox.

Breathing easy in Waltham Forest

We know that breathing clean air is important to our residents and ahead of National Clean Air Day on June 21 we have been taking steps to support our community to breathe easy.

Last month pupils from 45 primary schools took to the streets as part of Walk to School week. Earlier this month Waltham Forest Council's cabinet approved a new 39-point Air Quality Action plan which builds on progress that has been made in recent years and on Friday, children from primary schools in the borough took part in a special training day in the Council Chamber to become Air Quality Ambassadors for their schools.

Councillor Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment said: "Our residents have told us that air quality is a top priority and our new Air Quality Action Plan shows the commitment that the council is making to our residents.

"We know that across London 9,400 people die from illnesses related to air pollution every year, and we want to see that number dramatically reduced.

"With new technology, and better designed streets we are making great strides in this area but there is always more that can be done. Everyone can do their bit to help by reducing their reliance on vehicles to get around. Research shows that actually a third of Londoners could make their car journey in less than 25 minutes on foot.

"Getting active when getting around is not only good for the environment, and the air that we all breathe, but it is especially good for your own health too."

"Everyone can do their bit to help by reducing their reliance on vehicles to get around"

In recent years Waltham Forest Council has invested in making it easier, more convenient, pleasant and safer to get around by bicycle or

Children training to become Air Quality Ambassadors for their schools on foot through the Enjoy Waltham Forest programme. Through the programme it has supported residents who want to close roads on weekends as Play Streets, so children can enjoy playing on their street in clean air and traffic free environments and trained more than 5,000 residents and school children to ride a bike safely. It has encouraged schools to adopt and deliver School Travel Plans and 'anti Idling' campaigns. The programme has also created pocket parks in residential streets, planted more than a thousand trees, and created a zero emissions delivery service which is working with the council and local businesses to reduce the reliance on cars and small vans to make deliveries within the borough.

On National Clean Air Day next week the council's politicians and staff will be making pledges for how they will commit to improving air quality for everyone to enjoy.

You can also make your own pledges and share them with us on social media using #WFCleanAirDay.

New office space where business can grow

2,465 BUSINESSES WERE CREATED IN THE BOROUGH LAST YEAR

Waltham Forest

Fourteen new office spaces at Eternity House which opened in Highams Park on last month, are now available for rent. The offices have been developed as part of the council's commitment to support business and help the local economy to grow.

Under the planning conditions negotiated by Waltham Forest Council and Tesco, development of the Hickman Avenue site that includes the new Tesco store, residential and commercial units, had to include small offices for local businesses, especially start-ups.

Tesco helped fund the fitting out of the units as well as giving a 15-year lease to Borno Chemist Limited, which also delivers managed workspace in three other places in the borough.

Borno Chemist Property Manager, Lynne Collins, said: "Eternity House is our largest centre in the borough. We have had some tremendous support from the Council. Officers helped us with our proposals, the planning application and building regulations as well as providing ongoing business advice and support."

Eternity House tenant, Tom Carroll, is one of three people launching Oh So Technical, an IT support company which has small and medium-sized businesses as its main clients.

Tom said: "Ten years ago we employed 15 people in an IT business in Waltham Forest and when we looked to expand there simply wasn't anywhere suitable for us, so we moved out of the borough.

"Now we're back to launch Oh So Technical and the offices at Eternity House are ideal for us. They are right next to a station with good connections to the City of London and the West End, where many of our clients are based. The borough is a good place to recruit well-educated technical staff.

"The rent on these offices is really competitive and there is Small Business Rate Relief to help keep costs down for start-up businesses such as ours."

Negotiations for the redevelopment were agreed under Section 106 rules, obligating the developer to minimise the impact of the development on the area. For example, by planting trees or contributing to new roads, transport or health services.

Waltham Forest Council's vision to 'keep, seed and grow' businesses so the local economy grows has been key to attracting entrepreneurs into the area. Last year around 2,465 new businesses opened in the borough.

Landlord Forum

Landlords from across the borough are invited to a special forum where they will be able to hear speakers and network with colleagues from across Waltham Forest.

A representative from the Department for Work and Pensions will speak about Universal Credit, the new benefits for people on low incomes and how it will impact on private landlords. Barry Potts from the housing team will be discussing options for letting property to the council. The forum has been arranged as part of the council's commitment to working with Landlords, particularly in the private sector, to ensure residents' have a decent roof over their head and to reduce Anti-Social-Behaviour.

Have your say on Gyrary bridge

Come and share your views on how the former Walthamstow Gyrary bridge could be used.

Waltham Forest Council is hosting a series of drop in sessions this month where local people and users of the transport hub can share their views on how the area could be used.

There are a number of options including a pop up space, market space or event location. There are also plans to create extra green spaces along Hoe Street. Share your views with us on Friday 15 June from 8am to 10.30am, Tuesday 19 June from 4pm to 6.30pm or on Wednesday 20 June 10.30am to 1pm. For further information visit: <http://bit.ly/WFGyrary>

Work speeding ahead on £2million The Junction project

Work is well under way at 'The Junction' – the £2 million project that will create opportunities for residents to learn new skills, gain qualifications and improve their employability.

Located at the junction of Leytonstone High Road and Cathall Road, the new centre will offer residents state of the art facilities for family learning, reading clubs, parenting and child minding programmes. It will also offer classes in English, mathematics and employability.

A new hair and beauty teaching space will be installed at the Junction and the kiln from the North Birkbeck Road site will be relocated, so that learners can continue to benefit from the popular ceramics, arts and crafts courses.

Once complete, residents will be able to access all the services provided by the Adult Learning Service, previously called the Leytonstone Learning Link, the Children and Family Centre and the former Harrow Green Library in one location.

Limited on-site parking will be available for disabled people, if you come by car you will be able to purchase parking permits for nearby on-street parking.

The new centre is due to open at the end of the year.

Prospectus

Waltham Forest Adult Learning Services will be launching its new prospectus on Monday 18 June with details of a wide range of quality courses available. Residents are invited to come along to information days, soon to be arranged, to discuss the best course to suit their needs with an advisor.

We're all Team Waltham Forest – Going above and beyond to keep our streets clean

Our new uniformed Team Waltham Forest are on the streets, working 24/7 to make sure your neighbourhoods are clean

TEAM WALTHAM FOREST

Team Waltham Forest with Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Environment

Look out for the new uniformed team who are working across the borough to crack down hard on people who fly tip and litter our streets.

They are on the streets every day, including the night time Enforcement Team who work between 10pm and 6am, clearing and investigating fly tips overnight, keeping the streets clean and catching fly tippers.

Team Waltham Forest brings together a number of different services working across the council including Neighbourhoods Officers, Private Rental Property Licensing, Food Safety and CCTV officers. They share information and work together to tackle key issues including fly tipping, untidy gardens and illegal sub-standard housing in back gardens.

Together they look into the causes of littering and fly tipping and use different tactics to tackle them. For example, temporary CCTV cameras may be used to prevent and catch people who are dumping rubbish, or a letter may be sent to residents who live near a fly tipping hot spot to remind them about the correct way to dispose of rubbish.

The team also visit businesses and ask for proof of contracts to show they're disposing of trade waste responsibly, and food hygiene and trading standards officers carry out spot checks and hygiene inspections to make sure businesses are compliant and operating responsibly.

Officers visit residential properties to ensure private rented properties are licensed. Rogue businesses and landlords are fined and in severe cases we may also seek prosecution.

We also name and shame rogue businesses and traders on our website to discourage others and to show we will not tolerate this in our borough. Chris from Team Waltham Forest said: "Our priority is to keep the streets clean and safe and enjoyable for residents. We patrol areas seven days a week, tackling fly tippers. We issue fixed penalty notices, we can prosecute and we also deal with businesses who fly tip."

Play your part, be part of the team

We are all Team Waltham Forest and we all have to take pride in our local neighbourhoods.

We'd like to thank over 1,000 Waltham Forest volunteers who give up their time to help keep our streets clean and green. Working together we're making the borough even more tidy, green and loved.

You can help in a number of ways:

- 1. Clear your rubbish in the right way: We collect household rubbish and recycling every week, and unlike some London boroughs, we provide a free garden waste collection every fortnight. We also provide a free bulky waste collection for residents, up to five items (charges apply for electrical items).

Did you know ...
servicestore can clear unwanted items from your home, garden or business premises, including large electrical items. They provide a reliable and trustworthy service, including a handy man and pest control service, with competitive prices. Visit walthamforestservicestore.co.uk

2. Report fly tipping and other neighbourhood issues:

You can now quickly report fly tipping, dog fouling and fly posting through our new Chatbot available 24/7 on Facebook @walthamforestcouncil and on Twitter @WFTellWalt Your reports go straight to our crews which means things are cleared away quicker.

- 3. Take part in a litter picking group or clean up event:
We can give you advice on how to get started and provide equipment. Please email wasteteam@walthamforest.gov.uk for more information.

- 4. Help to keep your neighbourhood green: You may want to start by planting flowers or herbs in nearby tree pits.
- 5. Become a Snow Angel: Help your neighbours in Winter months by volunteering to clear snow and ice from footways and pathways in your local area. Register your interest now by emailing Environmental.Services@walthamforest.gov.uk
- 6. Share your Team Waltham Forest stories: Share photos, videos and stories on the work you're doing to keep your neighbourhood green and tidy! Be sure to use the hashtag #TeamWalthamForest

Every day we're catching, fining and prosecuting people. Last year we fined over 1,200 people who fly tipped in the borough and we issued more than 11,000 littering fines.

Time for a facelift for Town Hall clock tower

Eagle-eyed passers-by will have spotted figures in hi-vis jackets hard at work on the beautiful copper-clad clock tower that adorns the roof of the Waltham Forest Town Hall building. What is happening and why's it being done?

Well, wonder no more as our intrepid press team steeled their nerves and climbed up to find out more...

The essential renovation work that is currently underway on the clock tower will protect this important piece of local heritage for future generations to enjoy. It will include external redecoration of the octagonal lantern which houses the clock mechanism, as well as the peak of the clock tower. The flat roof at the base of the tower will be recovered to ensure it remains watertight, protecting the interior of the building.

Internal work inside the clock tower's octagonal dome is also taking place. The steel structure will be repainted and repaired, and the interior and exterior lighting rewired. The power supply to the clock mechanism will also be renewed, so that it remains reliable for years to come. To make sure the structure is safe for future preservation work to be carried out the access ladders will be replaced and an additional platform will provide access to previously unreachable parts of the interior.

The iconic Town Hall, a Grade II listed masterpiece of art-deco style, is one of the most recognisable buildings in north London. Flanked by its sister building the Assembly Hall and completed by the remarkable ornamental fountain, the area has been a landmark since its completion in 1942.

It's part of the exciting project to transform the historic Waltham Forest Town Hall Campus into a thriving neighbourhood with new flexible workspace and premises for local businesses. Perky Blenders, the renowned local coffee roasters, has already opened a new café on the Town Hall Campus site serving their trademark top-quality coffee and tasty bites and are open seven days a week for residents to enjoy.

The Town Hall Campus project will also free up space around the borough for much-needed housing. Up to as many as 600 homes could be built on sites freed up by moving staff away from older, less-efficient council offices around the borough. This will enable young people from the borough to stay near their families, friends and support networks as they get on the property ladder.

The project is about creating a bright future for the borough and its residents with a new neighbourhood in the heart of Chapel End – but at the same time it's about protecting our history and heritage, and the iconic architecture that gives the area its unique character.

This clock tower maintenance work is being led by the council's Capital Delivery Team, and managed by our joint venture partners NPS London. Work is anticipated to last until late summer.

Walthamstow Town Hall: Story of an icon

In 1929 the newly created borough of Walthamstow, as it was at the time, launched a competition for architects to submit designs for a new Town Hall, to be built on the site of Chestnuts Farm. The competition attracted 70 entries and the eventual winner was Philip Dalton Hepworth, an architect best known for his stylish residential creations. The Town Hall is of a Swedish simplified-classicism design with art-deco detailing.

Construction did not begin until 1937, and was affected by the outbreak of World War Two in 1939 as the country switched to a wartime economy. Some intended details, such as the marble foyer, had to be changed or omitted altogether, which is why the foyer was instead finished with more economical terrazzo flooring.

Despite the restrictions caused by the war, the Town Hall and Assembly Hall buildings were clad in Portland Stone from Dorset. Irish sculptor John Francis Kavanagh carved fine ornamental figures to complete the exteriors – five William Morris-inspired statuettes for the Town Hall with 'Tragedy' and 'Comedy' adorning the Assembly Hall.

The original design also contained plans for a magistrates' court. Because of the war this was not constructed until the 1970s and, it is fair to say, does not have quite the same architectural significance as its neighbours.

Young Hot Bloods takes the stage

'From the Forest' Theatre and Arts Festival starts in venues around Waltham Forest on Thursday 21 June. Running for 11 nights in six local venues, the festival will feature award-winning theatre, comedy, puppetry and family shows. At the festival, Longsight Theatre, who received top reviews for work at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival and London's Vault Festival, will debut a new play commissioned by Waltham Forest, inspired by the centenary of the 1918 right for some women to vote.

Their play, 'Young Hot Bloods', has been created from interview material gathered across Waltham Forest and beyond. Longsight Theatre has been asking people what they know about the Suffrage movement, and also about current social struggles that matter to them: how far have we come, and how far would you go? The theatre has interviewed school children across the borough, in primary and secondary schools, and talked to sixth formers and youth groups.

Young Hot Bloods will be performed on Saturday 30 June and Sunday 1 July at Ye Olde Rose & Crown Theatre as part of From the Festival (21 June – 1 July).

Tickets for From the Forest Festival cost between £5 and £10 and can be purchased at atfffestival.com/tickets/

The Best Little Festival

The Leytonstone Festival is back and will run from Friday 6 to Sunday 15 July, featuring more than 50 events at 20 venues around Leytonstone. The Festival will showcase new and familiar talent sharing the great culture that is happening in Waltham Forest.

Performances to look forward to are as diverse as a Mozart comic opera, a production of Chekov's 'The Seagull', a roaring big band playing the hits of Basie and Ellington, an afternoon BBQ featuring the performance of a gospel choir and a two day Hitchcock Film Festival!

The official Opening Event will take place at St John's Church Leytonstone High Road on Saturday 7 July (12 noon – 5.30pm) with an afternoon of music and song, the Leytonstone Arts Trail Exhibition plus The Stones Throw Market offering a range of craft and food stalls. The Festival has been made possible by funding by Waltham Forest Ward Forums.

The Council has announced Sam Hunt as Creative Director for the Mayor's London Borough of Culture 2019.

Sam Hunt, who led the creative programme for Hull's year as City of Culture in 2017, will lead on the creative delivery of an exciting year of cultural events working with our partners and local community.

Sam has a wealth of experience having worked across the arts, events and cultural industries for 15 years. He will work alongside programme director Lorna Lee.

Cllr Clare Coghill, Leader of Waltham Forest Council, said: "We are delighted to welcome Sam to our team for London Borough of Culture 2019. His wealth of experience working across the arts promises to bring that something extra special to our year of culture, and put Waltham Forest firmly on the international map.

"Planning for London Borough of Culture 2019 is now thoroughly underway, and we can't wait to share plenty of exciting announcements over the next few months, with Sam at the helm."

Sam said: "I am absolutely delighted to join Waltham Forest and deliver its exciting programme for London Borough of Culture 2019, building on my experience working with Hull UK City of Culture, and a range of cultural events across the country.

"Waltham Forest has a long and rich history of being home to radical artists and cultural provocateurs. I want us to build on the borough's globally significant cultural heritage whilst celebrating everything that's great about Waltham Forest now, working with the borough's flourishing creative communities. Ensuring through 2019 and beyond, it is the place where the next generation of artists, writers, poets, musicians, makers and doers are put center stage.

"Waltham Forest has a wonderful opportunity to set the benchmark for what a successful borough of culture should look like, the possibilities are boundless and this is what really excites me."

Deputy Mayor for Culture and

London
Borough of Culture
2019
#wfculture19

Creative Industries, Justine Simons OBE, said: "Its great news that Sam will be bringing his expertise to Waltham Forest as their preparations to be our first ever London Borough of Culture continue. The London Borough of Culture programme will shine a spotlight on the incredible culture, heritage and hidden gems that exist in our city, and I can't wait to see how Waltham Forest's exciting programme comes to life."

Waltham Forest will be staging a number of sneak peaks ahead London Borough of Culture 2019 at their 'Get together' events throughout the summer, starting at the Walthamstow Garden Party on Saturday 14 and Sunday 15 July.

In brief

Top acts for Garden Party

Further fabulous live acts and community activities have been announced for the Walthamstow Garden Party, taking place on Saturday 14 and Sunday 15 July. On Sunday Seun Kuti will perform alongside rapper, singer and actor Lil Simz. Seun Kuti, son of afrobeat pioneer Fela Kuti, will perform some of his earlier music as well as tracks from his new album, Black Times. This year, two areas of the Walthamstow Garden Party will be produced by eight local creative leaders through the Creative Citizens Fellowship programme. The Creative Citizen Fellowship is made up of eight local artists and community leaders who also run their own creative organisations in the borough.

As Waltham Forest steps up to be the first Mayor's London Borough of Culture in 2019 visitors will also be able to find out more about exciting plans for our year. Come along to see sneak peeks of some of the incredible events set to take place, and find out more about opportunities to get involved in different aspects of the programme!

Extra time for Art Road Show

New for 2018 at the Get Together events is a travelling exhibition of art submitted by communities and budding artists from all around London, called Art Road Show. Curated by local artist Sba Shaikh and the William Morris Young Curators, this is another great opportunity to enjoy the creativity of residents, whose talents have been showcased during our successful Borough of Culture bid. We are inviting creative practitioners from different practices, backgrounds and cultures to showcase their passion as part of this collaborative exhibition and competition. A prize of £500 will be awarded to a winning piece of work judged by festival goers and William Morris Young Curators. There will also be a prize of £200 for an under 25 category. The deadline for applications to the Art Road Show has been extended to Friday 22 June. Apply online at tinyurl.com/artroadshow-lbwf

London Borough of Culture 2019 logo competition – take a look at some of the entries!

Thank you to everyone who entered our London Borough of Culture 2019 logo competition, which is now closed.

We received over 70 original logo designs from residents, students and businesses! The winning entrant will receive a prize of £1,000 and see their design become Waltham Forest's official logo for the programme.

Make sure to join us at the Walthamstow Garden Party at Lloyd Park on the Saturday 14 July to see the winning design. The winner has been selected from a shortlist by a panel of judges from local arts organisations, Waltham Forest Young Advisors and Big Creative Education, joined by Clare Coghill, Leader of Waltham Forest Council, and Martin Esom, Chief Executive at Waltham Forest Council.

A little TLC for carers

National Carers Week from 11–15 June is an important time to highlight the incredible work of unpaid carers who tirelessly look after a partner, relative, friend or neighbour. Unpaid carers often provide this support at the expense of their own health and wellbeing.

If you are an unpaid carer, come along to the Carers Wellbeing Event during National Carers Week. Find out about local support services from the Carers FIRST Waltham Forest team, learn about physical activities to help you relax including gentle yoga and gardening, socialise with other carers and enjoy an Indian head or hand massage. Food and drink will be available throughout the event. CarersFIRST are also holding a Carers Employment Workshop on Thursday 14 June, 9.30–11.30am at the Waltham Forest Resource Hub. The workshop includes CV writing skills, how to write a good CV, what to avoid, CV templates and information on preparing for an interview and applying for jobs.

The Carers Wellbeing Event is on Wednesday 13 June from 2pm–6pm at Gnome House, 7 Blackhorse Lane, Walthamstow E17 6DS. For more information visit carersFIRST.org.uk or call 0300 303 1555.

'Variety in my role brings new challenges every day'

The transformation of the Town Hall Campus has started and 350 employees have moved into their new home at the newly redeveloped Magistrates Court.

Waltham Forest Council project manager, Nick Blackmore, worked on the redevelopment project making sure the client's brief and architect's vision was maintained and delivered throughout the project.

Nick, who has worked for Waltham Forest since 2016 said: "The best part of my job is that I am able to be a part of bringing a disused property or land back to life and provide the borough with more facilities.

"Council properties are so varied and different making each project unique. For example, in the Magistrates, we found that many of the walls were made from breeze block. This meant that we could completely open up the whole building and achieve our vision of creating a light, contemporary, collaborative space. It was a key moment in the project.

"The exterior of the building and the original holding cells have been preserved. Some of the furniture used in the new café, Perky Blenders has been made from materials reclaimed from the cells.

"I enjoy the variety that creates new challenges every day and a working environment in which you never stop learning and improving professionally.

"It's a very, very exciting time to be part of Waltham Forest. Winning the Borough of Culture for 2019 is fantastic and a reflection of what a dynamic borough we are.

"If you're reading this and think the role sounds interesting and you might like to get into project management, there are many excellent courses available. The job, if you wish, can take you around the world."

Pupils from Barn Croft School planted trees at Walthamstow Wetlands

Schoolchildren have been planting trees at Walthamstow Wetlands as a gift for future generations and wildlife to enjoy.

Pupils from Barn Croft School, in Walthamstow, spent a morning enhancing an outdoor learning area at the nature reserve with trees they had received from the Woodland Trust.

Louise Duke from Barn Croft

School said: "We received a donation of 53 trees from the Woodland Trust but we didn't have space for the trees to grow. So we contacted Walthamstow Wetlands because we regularly bring children here to learn.

"The species are all native and of a local provenance and they were carefully vetted and approved to plant onsite. It feels so good to give something back to a place that gives so much to our pupils. As the children grow up and return to the area they will be able to see how the trees have grown."

Year 6 students buddied up with a younger reception pupil for the day and worked with Wetlands staff to plant the Hawthorn, Silver Birch, Rowan, Downy Birch and Dogwood trees.

As the largest urban wetland nature reserve in Europe and London's largest nature reserve, the Wetlands is a special home for local and rare wildlife. Myfanwy Lloyd, Outdoor Learning Officer from London Wildlife Trust was thrilled to be offered the trees.

She said: "Wetland habitats are extremely rare in urban areas and to protect the site's future legacy, conservation projects play a vital role. As part of London Wildlife Trust's habitat enhancement work at Walthamstow Wetlands, we agreed to plant the trees in our outdoor learning area and create a new area for both wildlife and children to use and enjoy.

Walthamstow Wetlands is also a Thames Water operational site supplying 3.5 million people with drinking water. The nature reserve is a partnership project between Thames Water, Waltham Forest Council and the London Wildlife Trust.

In October 2017, the site opened its gates to the wider public for the very first time in 150 years. Walthamstow Wetlands is free to enter and open 363 days a year.

Make the change on Healthy Eating Week

It's Healthy Eating Week from 11–15 June 2018 and the benefits of eating a healthy diet are endless.

As well as helping us look and feel great, healthy eating can help prevent serious illnesses such as diabetes, heart failures and many more. See our tips to help you start your healthy lifestyle this week:

Monday – Have a great breakfast

Go for wholegrain or higher fibre foods like oats, wholemeal bread and breakfast cereals.

Eating a diet high in fibre and wholegrain can help you maintain a healthy body weight and ensure a healthier digestive system. It can also lower your risk of developing type 2 diabetes and heart disease.

Tuesday – Eat your five a day

Fruit and vegetables provide a range of different vitamins, minerals and phytochemicals (e.g. polyphenols) needed for good health, as well as fibre which is important for the digestive system. It can help reduce the risk of developing heart disease, stroke, cancers and other chronic health problems.

Wednesday – Drink more water – 6–8 glasses a day

The body is about 60 per cent water and this is needed for many different functions to keep our organs functioning and regulate body temperature.

Staying hydrated can give you glowing, youthful skin and prevent low concentration, headaches and tiredness that comes from mild dehydration

Thursday – Get active

Staying active improves your looks and helps to maintain your energy balance. It improves heart-health and sleep, relieves stress and can lift your mood.

Friday – Make that change

Making long-term changes to your lifestyle behaviours, ensures that you continually improve as a person. It can also have a positive effect on those around us and those we influence. It can be a good motivation for others- friends and family.

CONSULTATION NOTICE

THE TOWN AND COUNTRY PLANNING (GENERAL PERMITTED DEVELOPMENT) (ENGLAND) ORDER 2015 AS AMENDED NOTICE PURSUANT TO SCHEDULE 3 OF THE CONFIRMATION OF AN ARTICLE 4 DIRECTION

The London Borough of Waltham Forest has made an Article 4(1) Direction on 14 July 2017, under Article 4(1) of the Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) (England) Order 2015, as amended. The Direction applied to the whole borough. On 9 February 2018 a decision was made to vary the Order so that it would instead only apply to Walthamstow Town Centre, designated Employment areas and District and Neighbourhood Centres.

The Council invited representations on the variation to the Article 4 Direction between 5 March 2018 and 2 April 2018. This document gives notice in accordance with Schedule 3 that the varied Article 4 Direction has been confirmed by the Council on 4 June 2018. The varied Article 4 Direction shall come into force on 24 July 2018.

The Direction relates to development comprising change of use from a use falling within Class B1(a) (offices) of the Town and Country (Use Classes) Order 1987 (as amended) to a use falling within Class C3 (dwellinghouses) of that Order, and removes permitted development rights for this type of development from the date when the Direction comes into force. Planning permission will therefore be required for change of use from Class B1(a) to Class C3 once the varied Article 4 Direction is in force.

The varied Article 4 Direction applies to Walthamstow Town Centre, designated Employment areas and District and Neighbourhood Centres as shown on the plan appended to the Direction. A copy of the Direction, including the map, can be viewed during normal office hours at The Magistrates, Waltham Forest Town Hall Complex, Forest Road, London E17 4JF; or can be viewed on the Council's website at www.walthamforest.gov.uk Dated : 11 June 2018

Places, Loading Places and Waiting, Loading and Stopping Restrictions) (Amendment No. 144) Order 2018 The Waltham Forest (Charged-For Parking Places) (Amendment No. 113) Order 2018

1. NOTICE IS GIVEN that the London Borough of Waltham Forest (hereinafter referred to as “The Council”) on 11th June 2018 made the above-mentioned Orders under sections 6, 45, 46, 49 and 124 of and Part IV of Schedule 9 to the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, as amended. The general effect of Orders to coincide with cycle improvements, “Copenhagen Style blended crossing” entry treatments at junctions (shared highway and footway space for moving vehicles and pedestrians) and new and revised crossings will be:
- (a) in Forest Road E17 to extend the short stay (30 minutes) parking place on the north side outside Nos. 345 to 359 Forest Road by 1.5 metres at its western end and by 4 metres at its eastern end (replacing double yellow line “at any time” waiting restrictions in each location);
- (b) in Forest Road E17 to extend the permit holders parking place on the north side outside Nos. 369 to 379 Forest Road by 14 metres at its eastern end (replacing double yellow line “at any time” waiting restrictions and to shorten that parking place by 2 metres at its western end (replacing that length with double yellow line “at any time” waiting and “at any time” loading restrictions);
- (c) in Forest Road E17 to provide double yellow line “at any time” waiting and “at any time” loading restrictions in the following lengths: except in existing parking places or the lengths of proposed parking space referred to in sub-paragraph (a) or (b) above: (1) on the north side, between 12 metres west of Holmes Avenue and 7.5 metres east of Winns Terrace*; and (2) on the south side, between 23 metres west of Wolsey Avenue and 8 metres east of Jewel Road; and
- (d) on the south-east side of Boundary Road E17: (1) adjacent to No. 249 Markhouse Road to remove 9.8 metres of short stay parking space; and (2) adjacent to No. 249 Markhouse Road and outside No. 275 Boundary Road to remove 12 metres of permit holders parking space and replace it with a free short stay parking place (30 minutes maximum stay, no return for 2 hours) operating between 8am and 6.30pm on Mondays to Saturdays inclusive;
- (e) to provide ‘at any time’ waiting and loading restrictions (including waiting for the purpose of loading/unloading):
- (i) on both sides of Boundary Road E17, for approximately 20 metres east of Markhouse Road; and
- (ii) on the north-east side of Markhouse Road E17, outside Nos. 249 to 257 Markhouse Road.
- *Nb/ This road is a correction to the one mentioned in the Notice of Proposal of the above mentioned provisions advertised in Waltham Forest News dated 22nd Jan 2018 issue 197.
2. Copies of the Orders, which will come into operation from 11th June 2018 and other relevant documents can be inspected during normal office hours on Mondays to Fridays inclusive until the expiration of a period of 6 weeks from that date, at:
- (a) The Information Desk, Town Hall, Forest Road, Walthamstow, E17; and (b) Low Hall, Argall Avenue, London, E10 7AS.
3. Any person desiring to question the validity of the Orders or of any provision contained therein on the grounds that it is not within the relevant powers of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, or that any of the relevant requirements thereof or of any relevant regulations made thereunder has not been complied with in relation to the Order may, within six weeks of the making of the Orders, make application for the purpose to the High Court.
